

FORMER CROWN PRINCE WAS NEVER IN FAVOR OF WAR

Son of Former Emperor of Germany Tells Associated Press Correspondent That He Still Claims Title — Ready to Return to Fatherland and help His Country in Any Way Possible — Says the War was Lost in 1914.

OSTERLAND, Holland, Dec. 9.—(By the Associated Press).—"I have not renounced anything and I have not signed any document whatever."

Frederick William Hohenzollern, who still claims the title of crown prince of Germany, thus answered the question of The Associated Press in the course of a lengthy conversation today which took place in the small cottage of the village pastor on the island of Wieringen where he is interned.

"However," he continued, "should the German government decide to form a republic similar to the United States or France, I shall be perfectly content to return to Germany as simply a citizen ready to do anything to assist my country. I should even be happy to work as a laborer in a factory."

"At present everything appears chaos in Germany, but I hope things will right themselves."

War Lost in 1914

Asked what in his opinion was the turning point of the war he said:

"I was convinced early in October, 1914, that we had lost the war. I considered our position hopeless after the battle of the Marne which we should not have lost if the chiefs of our general staff had not suffered a case of nerves."

"I even tried to persuade the general staff to seek peace then, even at a great sacrifice, going so far as to give up Alsace-Lorraine. But I was told to mind my own business and confine my activities to commanding my armies. I have proof of this."

What finally brought about the downfall of the German military power, he declared, was revolution induced by four years of hunger among the civilians and the troops in the rear, together with the overwhelming superiority in numbers attained by the entente powers, since America's entry in the war which had undermined the confidence of the German fighting forces.

Loved His Soldiers

"My soldiers, whom I loved and with whom I lived continuously and who, if I may say so, loved me, fought with the utmost courage to the end, even when the odds were impossible to withstand," the refugee prince went on. "They had no rest and sometimes an entire division numbered only 600 rifles. These were opposed by fresh allied troops, among whom were American divisions containing 27,000 men apiece."

"I was with my group of armies after the Kaiser left Germany. I asked the Berlin government whether they desired me to retain my command. They replied negatively, and I could not continue to lead armies under orders of the Soldiers and Workers' Council."

Therefore, I came to Holland, without hindrance. No shooting or bombing occurred and I quit the army with the greatest regret after having participated in the trench life with the soldiers for so long.

"I have not been in Germany for a year and from the beginning of the war I have taken only three or four fortnight leaves."

Never Desired War

Speaking of the beginning of the war Frederick William asserted:

"Contrary to all statements hitherto made abroad I never desired war and thought the moment quite inopportune. I was never consulted, and the report about a crown council being held in Berlin to decide on the war, I deny on my oath. I was enjoying a vacation at a watering place when mobilization was ordered."

"My father also, I am sure, did not declare war. If Germany had sought the best opportunity for making war she would have chosen the period either of the Boer war or the Russo-Japanese war."

"From the beginning I was certain that England would enter the conflict. This view was not shared by Prince Henry and the other members of my family."

"People have credited me with warlike intentions, but I was only a soldier with a desire to see the army kept thoroughly efficient and I worked hard to bring this about. People blame me with the failure at Verdun. But I refused to attack there with the troops at my disposal. On the third occasion my attack was successful for the first three days, but I was not properly supported."

"I thought that the Verdun attack was a mistake. We should have attacked to the eastward of Verdun, where there would have been great probability of success."

Bitter Against General Staff

The ex-crown prince was rather bitter regarding the work of the general staff, which he asserted was responsible for numerous mistakes, including the attack in March, 1918, which he was ordered

U.S. MUST STAND BY HER ALLIES SAYS ROOSEVELT

Issues Statement Opposing Wilson's Trip To Europe

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Asserting that the United States had not done nearly as much as the British navy and the British, French and Italian armies to bring the downfall of Germany, Theodore Roosevelt declared in a statement here tonight that it is "our business to stand by our allies at the peace conference."

He declared it "sheer nonsense" to say the American army was fighting for President Wilson's famous "fourteen points."

He made the assertion that "there was not one American soldier in every thousand who ever heard of them."

"The British empire imperatively needs the greatest navy in the world and this we should concede," said the Colonel. "Our need for a great navy comes next to her's and we should have the second navy in the world. Similarly France needs greater military strength than we do, but we should have all our young men trained to arms, on the general lines of the Swiss system."

Freedom of the Seas

"The freedom of the seas is a phrase that may mean anything or nothing. If it is to be interpreted as Germany interprets it, it is thoroughly mischievous. There must be no interpretation of the phrase that would prevent the English navy in the event of any future war from repeating the tremendous service it has rendered in this war."

"The British must of course keep the colonies they have conquered."

"As for this nation, it must keep its absolute economic independence and raise or lower its economic barriers as its interests demand, for we have to look after the welfare of our own workingmen. We must insist on the preservation of the Monroe Doctrine. We must keep the right to close the Panama Canal to our enemies in war time and we must not undertake to interfere in European, Asiatic or African matters which we ought to have properly no concern."

Declaring that President Wilson has not given the slightest explanation of what his views are or why he is going abroad, the Colonel asserted, "he is himself responsible for any division among the American people as regards the peace conference at this time."

"He has never permitted the American people to pass on his peace proposals, nor has he ever made those proposals clear and straightforward. As for the fourteen points, so far as the American people have expressed any opinion upon them, it was on Nov. 5 when they rejected them," he continued, adding that "the American army was fighting to smash Germany," and the "American people wanted Germany smashed."

Wilson's Points Not Accepted

"The allies have never accepted the fourteen points," he continued, "the United States has never accepted them. Germany and Austria enthusiastically accepted them. Here, certainly, in individual instances, President Wilson, Mr. Hearst, Mr. Verlek and I understand it, a number of pro-German and pacifist and international Socialists have accepted them, but neither the American people nor the American congress has accepted them."

The Colonel declared that, "Mr. Wilson, himself has rejected at least one of the fourteen points and has interpreted another in its plain and obvious meaning," and added that "some of the fourteen points are thoroughly mischievous under any interpretation," as most of the others are vague and ambiguous.

"In as much as Mr. Wilson is going over, it is earnestly to be hoped that it is his business not to tarry and be an empire between our allies and our enemies, but to set loyally as one of the allies," said the Colonel. "We have not suffered anything like as much and have not rendered as much service as the leading allies. It is the British and Italian armies, French, British and Italian armies that have done the most to bring about the downfall of Germany and therefore the safety of the United States. It is our business to stand by our allies."

Reconstruction Opens in New York City Today

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 3.—Business men here to attend the reconstruction congress called by the chamber of commerce of the United States to open tomorrow met today to consider what policies and proposals they shall present to the general meeting for adoption. There were nearly four hundred meetings of war service committees, representing virtually every business and industry in the country and views touching many phases of the business or industry in which particular committee is interested were freely expressed. As a result a large number of resolutions will be presented to the clearance committee for action and submission to the general convention.

There seemed to be a general agreement that business must proceed cautiously in bringing about the after the war readjustment, that there should be no sudden dumping of products on the market and thus bring about demoralization that labor should be steadily employed as one of the best ways to maintain stability, that there should be no effort made by the government in arbitrarily fixing prices and that business should be permitted to large extent to work out its own reconstruction problems.

Illinois Labor Men Form New Political Party

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 3.—Labor's new political party based upon the four principles enunciated by the Chicago Federation of Labor came into existence at this afternoon's session of the Illinois Federation of Labor, meeting in this city. The only opposition came from a few scattering Socialist delegates who urged that organized labor take up the Socialist party as its means of making its influence felt in political affairs.

G. T. Fraenckels of Chicago, voiced most of the opposition declaring labor is worshipping at the shrine of a new God, when the American Federation of Labor set itself up as the only supreme idol of the labor movement. He also championed the red flag of his political faith and referred to the action of the Chicago council in barring red flags from display.

Delegates Cook of the Chicago machinists opposed the establishment of a political party, declaring the minute labor got into politics it would get into trouble, but he later voted for its establishment.

Benjamin Parker of Chicago, declared that the Chicago council in barring the display of the red flag is a warning to labor to organize and that "every political buzzard in the state is watching this convention."

E. N. Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor declared opposition came only from Socialists and that the new party would cut 300,000 votes in Chicago at the spring election.

President Walker asserted the time had come for labor to launch its own party. He said he has endeavored in vain, to get planks favorable to labor in the Republican and Democratic platforms.

He placed great emphasis on the constitutional convention and declared a labor party must be in existence at that time, not only in order to make progress but to prevent privileges being taken away.

The Mooney case came in for attention and the resolutions committee was directed to consider every angle of the case.

TAKES STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

AYER, Mass., Dec. 3.—Presley H. Stringfellow a private in a field signal battalion at Camp Devens, who has been on trial as a spy took the stand in his own defense today. When approached by two men, who he said, had offered to get him out of the army in return for certain information, he and his wife, who he said, they had matched his wife against their wishes while he gave to them information of no value whatever and which was available to anyone.

Stringfellow was charged specifically with tapping a telegraph wire from headquarters and with having given up confidential code books to men supposed to be enemy agents. His statement brought the trial to a dramatic conclusion. The findings will be announced later.

"It was announced at the executive offices today that," said the statement, "United States Fuel Administrator Garfield has tendered his resignation to take effect at the pleasure of the president and that the president has accepted the resignation altho it was made clear that the need of the domestic consumers will continue to receive the attention of the fuel administration until the winter has passed."

The correspondence between the president and Dr. Garfield was not made public, nor was there any information as to when the resignation becomes effective or whether a successor to Dr. Garfield will be named.

It is understood that Dr. Garfield plans to remain at his post the remainder of this month, but that after the holidays he will resume his duties as president of Williams College. It is assumed that he resigned at this time so that the president could act in the matter before his departure for Europe.

Many Difficult Measures Face Present Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—With preliminaries of the new session disposed of, congress today began work on the mass of appropriation and other measures now pending. Only minor bills were considered today in the senate and house but committees are at work on appropriation bills.

Except for these measures and the revenue bill the session's legislative program remains largely to be framed. Representative Kitchen, the Democratic leader in the house, said today that appropriation measures in the main are to occupy the house.

Immediate steps are to be taken to frame legislation to deal with the railroad situation. Chairman Smith of the senate interstate commerce committee said today he plans conferences on the subject soon with Chairman Sims of the house committee and with the railroad administration officials and expects that a joint committee will be named to inquire thoroughly into the subject.

Senator Smith said legislation at this session is necessary as he understands the president is in favor of immediate return of the railroads to private ownership unless congress decides upon some other policy.

Finishing touches were given by the senate finance committee to the revised war revenue bill which is to be reported Thursday if possible.

Senate committees today continued investigations into delay in publication of army casualties, brewers' propaganda and coal production and distribution. The coal inquiry was closed tonight for the present.

RESTRICTIONS ON SUGAR REMOVED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Restrictions on the purchase of sugar for consumption in homes and public eating places were removed tonight by the food administration. Increase in the supply of Louisiana cane and Western Beet Sugar and expectation that the new Cuban crop will begin to arrive soon permit abandonment of the sugar ration system the administration said.

Regulations limiting the purchase of sugar by domestic consumers to three pounds per person a month and by public eating places to three pounds for every ninety meals served were issued by the food administration last June. Since the cessation of hostilities the food administration has relaxed the restrictions gradually until the ration reached four pounds.

HOT DEBATE IN SENATE OVER PRESIDENT'S TRIP

Senator Williams Upholds Wilson's Going Overseas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—President Wilson's trip to Europe was the subject of debate in the senate today between Senators Sherman of Illinois, Republican and Williams, of Mississippi, Democrat.

In introducing a resolution to declare the president's office vacant upon Mr. Wilson's departure from the country and to provide for the succession of Vice-President Marshall, Senator Sherman severely criticized the president for his decision to attend the peace conference. He declared the trip is unjustified, constitutes a grave menace and might cause "insidious mischief."

Senator Williams warmly defended the president's course. He recited the fact that 50th President Taft and Roosevelt made trips outside of the United States and suggested that the purpose of the president's critics was to make political capital out of his voyage abroad.

While this colloquy was proceeding in the senate, Representative Mann of Illinois, the Republican leader in the house issued a statement declaring that factional strife should not be permitted to interfere with the president's mission. He said there would be no concerted effort by house Republicans to embarrass the president and that he did not believe the American people "would tolerate any meddling in that which so vitally concerns them."

Williams and Sherman Debate

The debate between Senators Sherman and Williams continued about two hours, but no other senators joined in the discussion, except to ask occasional questions. Many Republican and Democratic senators left their seats when the speaker of the opposition party was addressing the senate. Well filled galleries closely followed the exchanges between Senators Sherman and Williams and occasionally the spectators were reprimanded by Vice-President Marshall for applauding.

Disposition of Senator Sherman's resolution went over under the rules after the author had requested that it lie on the table. The senate foreign relations committee tomorrow will begin consideration of the resolution of Senator Cummins of Iowa. Republican that a senate committee of eight be appointed to go to Europe and keep the senate advised as to the proceedings of the peace conference.

Senator Cummins plans to appear before the committee in behalf of the resolution and committee members say it will be sent to the senate for action with or without committee recommendation.

The foreign relations committee also is to consider a resolution introduced today by Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, Republican and former secretary of state, proposing postponement by the peace conference of action on the questions of a league of nations and freedom of the seas.

The league of nations is to be discussed in the senate tomorrow by Senator Kelllogg of Minnesota, Republican, and on Friday by Senator Lewis of Illinois, the Democratic whip.

PLANS FOR RECEIVING AMERICAN WOUNDED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Plans under which all wounded men returning from France will go to hospitals within three hundred miles of the homes of their nearest relatives were announced today by the war department.

To this end, base hospitals at training camps have been turned over to the surgeon general, providing 75 hospitals with facilities to care for 104,231 men. Fifty thousand men are expected to be sent to these institutions within the next four months.

FAMOUS GREAT LAKES BAND WILL DISBAND

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The Great Lakes naval training band, now the largest in the world consisting of 1700 pieces will be disbanded as the result of orders received from the bureau of navigation at Washington. It was announced today. The band under direction of Lieut. John Phillip Sousa has appeared in all parts of the country during the liberty loan campaigns to arouse patriotic sentiment. Its disbandment caused much disappointment among officers at the Great Lakes. Under the order a new band of 150 pieces will replace the present organization.

SHOT BY HUSBAND; DIES

AMERICAN PEACE DELEGATION LEAVES FOR EUROPE TODAY

Will Sail On Transport George Washington for Voyage Across Atlantic Probably This Morning—President Will Be Away About Six Weeks.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Just before President Wilson left Washington tonight enroute to Europe announcement was made that the appointment of a secretary of the treasury to succeed William G. McAdoo will be made public tomorrow in New York. There was no reference to a director general of railroads and the inference was that this official has not been determined upon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—President Wilson began tonight his trip to Europe to attend the peace conference.

The president left Washington tonight on a special train for New York where tomorrow he and his party will board the transport George Washington on which the voyage across the Atlantic will be made. No announcement was made as to the president's itinerary but it was understood that the George Washington would steam from New York with her naval convoy some time tomorrow, probably in the morning. About seven days will be required for the trip and the ship will dock at a French port, presumably Brest.

Abroad Six Weeks.

The president does not expect to be abroad for more than six weeks, which would give him just a month on European soil. Before the peace conference meets he will confer with Premiers Lloyd George, of Great Britain, Clemenceau of France, and Orlando of Italy, and probably with King Albert of Belgium, to discuss the salient points of the peace treaty.

While in Europe Mr. Wilson plans to visit England and Italy as well as France and may go to Brussels. He also is understood to intend to make a pilgrimage to some of the battlefields in France.

Great preparations have been made in London, Paris and Rome for the president's reception. Joseph P. Tumulty the president's secretary accompanies Mr. Wilson to New York, but will not go abroad. He will return to Washington to conduct the business of the white house and will be the eyes and ears of the president in this country. Mr. Tumulty will be in frequent communication with the president by cable and will keep him fully advised of events at home.

President Wilson did not go to the Union Station until a short while before the time for his train to depart. As he and Mrs. Wilson entered the station the crowd there cheered and soldiers and sailors who were waiting for trains formed a human lair thru which President and Mrs. Wilson walked to the train shed.

When some of the crowd wished the president "good luck" and "pleasant voyage," Mr. Wilson smilingly called back: "Thank you."

Personnel of Party.

Just before the train pulled out of the station the personnel of the party aboard was announced as follows:

In the president's immediate party:

The President and Mrs. Wilson, Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the president's physician; George Creel, chairman of the committee on public information; Gilbert T. Close, confidential clerk to the president; E. I. Hoover, head usher at the white house and Miss Edith Benham, secretary to Mrs. Wilson.

Others on the train were:

The secretary of state and Mrs. Lansing; Secretary Baker, who was to leave the party at Hoboken; John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Davis; Henry White, a member of the peace delegation; Mrs. Benson, wife of Rear-Admiral W. S. Benson; Major and Mrs. Scott; Lieut. Commander Hatch; Mr. Harris, Mr. McNeil, Mr. Welch, Sidney Smyth, the French Ambassador and Mrs. Jusserand, Count de Celler, the Italian Ambassador and Mrs. deCellere and two children, and Colonel R. H. Jordan of the general staff, transportation officer.

Brigade General William W. Harris, aide to President Wilson, in command of the military and messengers at the George Washington.

Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the president's physician, is accompanying the president and others making the trip on the George Washington include Geo. Creel, chairman of the committee of public information and

After a while the kaiser will do no wrong, the peace conference, it is hoped, will leave him no chance.

An easy reminder of the date of the ending of the great war is to write it, 11, 11, 11, 18, that is the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of the year 1918.

In 1913 Germany produced 28,000,000 tons of iron ore and of this amount 21,000,000 tons came from Lorraine, one of the territories taken from France years ago. Germany's commercial lead may be sadly crippled when France comes to its own again.

The rapidity with which that paving contractor on West State street works is a constant source of surprise. He has part of the bricks piled in the middle of the road again. The constant wear in handling the bricks in the past years since the work was started is beginning to show in their chipped corners.

"Germany," says the Mexican Ledger, "stole all the engines and cars Belgium and France had and now when the Allies demand return of the stolen property they claim we are starving them to death. All Gaul was divided into three parts, not so with German gall."

Influenza has broken out in the Caribbean Islands, where the weather is said to be mild and delightful all the year round knocking out the theory that the disease is due to inclement fall weather. With the exception of a few days the weather has been unusually good in this vicinity as well.

PROHIBITION.

The fifteen states which have ratified the federal prohibition amendment are: Arizona, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Montana, North Dakota, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas and Virginia. The following states have state wide prohibition but have not yet ratified the federal prohibition amendment: Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Nevada, Ohio and Wyoming. There is scarcely a doubt that all these states will ratify as soon as their legislatures meet, which will bring the total to 37 or one more than the 36 states required for ratification. The prohibition leaders declare that ratification of the amendment is also assured in the following states: California, Connecticut, Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Vermont and Wisconsin. If this prediction materializes the amendment will be ratified by 45 states, leaving only three states, New York, New Jersey and Rhode Island, in the non-ratifying class. Under such circumstances the legislatures of the last named three states may decide to make the ratification of the federal prohibition amendment unanimous.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

The Springfield, Mass., Republican has been a warm supporter of Mr. Wilson's administration, yet ventures a suggestion that might well be heeded by the president, but probably will not be, it says:

"Mr. Taft is so closely in agreement with the president's league of nations program and has approved so unqualifiedly his decision to go to Europe to participate in the peace discussions that the appointment of the former president as a member of the peace delegation from the United States would be in every way appropriate and wise. It is to be hoped that Mr. Wilson will secure the services of Mr. Taft in this great enterprise of peace-making. * * * Mr. Taft seems to meet the requirements which the conditions create better than any other Republican of prominence and influence. * * * Whether the president's political genius is equal to this crisis must be demonstrated by the developments. Yet the course he should now follow seems clear, if he is to play in Europe the role of a president who must be accepted as the leader of a great people practically united in support of his undertakings. Mr. Wilson will need at his side a Republican statesman at least of Mr. Taft's caliber; and it is not too much to say, in view of the many formidable obstacles to be overcome in Paris and later in the senate, that two Republicans of real prestige are now needed as members of the peace commission that substantial results may be achieved and finally embodied in the new law of nations. This is both sound advice to the president and a splendid tribute to Mr. Taft from a high Democratic source.

ELECTION STATISTICS.

A very interesting document issued by Secretary of State Louis B. Emerson has been received in this office and contains much valuable information regarding the election held in Illinois on November 5th, 1918.

Included in the information in the book is published a table showing the number of votes cast on the various propositions that were submitted at this election. The prominent proposition submitted was that providing for the calling of a Constitutional convention and as this proposition called for a majority of all votes cast it took considerable time and effort to secure the figures so that the official report as to whether the proposition carried or not could be determined. The total number of votes cast in the State was 975,545. Of this number the question of calling a Constitutional Convention received 56,012 while 162,206 votes were cast against it. The convention question carried by a majority of 74,240.

The Private Banking Act required a majority of all the votes cast for or against it and the returns show that 403,453 votes were cast for the act and 83,704 against it.

The Hard Roads Act required a majority of all the votes cast for members of the Legislature and the canvas shows that a total of 898,821 votes were cast for members of the legislature. The votes for the proposition were 661,815, while 154,396 votes were cast against it. The majority in favor of the proposition is figured at 212,405.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

Politics in England is a queer mix-up from the stand point of parties in this country, and a great factor in the election this year is the vote of the returning soldiers, on whom the present government is depending because of their war record.

"Suppose," writes a London correspondent, "one of the congressional candidates in your district was selected by a Taft-Bryan coalition. Suppose another candidate was selected by the regular Democratic organization and another by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. Maybe you could then begin to approach an appreciation of the bewilderment of the average voter in the British general election."

Chancellor Bonar Law and Premier Lloyd-George, the former a Unionist and the latter an Independent Liberal, are working together under what we Americans would call a fusion agreement. They are supporting Unionist candidates in some districts and Lloyd-George Liberals in others, taking whoever appears to have the greatest chance of success. The only political qualification required is that the candidate shall pledge himself to support the coalition government.

Herbert Asquith heads the regular Liberal organization but is refraining from general opposition to the government, leaving each district to do as it sees fit. The Labor party, supported by several of the old-time Liberal newspapers, is endeavoring to elect enough members of parliament to overturn the existing coalition. This it would do by forming a Labor-Liberal alliance, in opposition to the Liberal-Unionist combination.

OBSESS THE RULES.

The Illinois Department of Public Health has issued a circular of special instructions regarding the epidemic of influenza and its preventative. Among the instructions "to the public" are the following regulations.

- (1) Keep out of crowds—indoors or outdoors (2) Keep away from persons having "common colds," shun the sneezer and cougher; (3) Keep a cool head, warm body and dry feet (4) Avoid chilling the body (5) Don't visit the sick; (6) Keep away from persons residing on infected premises; (7) Walk to work rather than ride on a crowded car; (8) Keep out of hot, stuffy or unventilated theatres, and other places of public assemblage; (9) Don't wear outdoor wraps or coats while indoors; (10) Don't go into outdoor air while overheated or with undergarments damp from perspiration; (11) Dress to suit the weather; (12) Don't let a person stand close to you while talking and spray you with infection; (13) Work, sleep and live in fresh air; (14) Avoid dusty places; (15) Eat regularly, plain nourishing food; (16) Avoid alcoholic drinks; (17) Avoid overwork and fatigue; (18) Keep your hands clean and keep your fingers out of your mouth; (19) Avoid the spitter and spit into a pail.

If you get a cold, (1) Don't infect other people—keep away from them. (2) Go home, go to bed and stay there until your cold is entirely cured—that's the best way to avoid pneumonia; (3) If you have fever with the cold call a doctor at once; (4) By all means avoid taking patent medicines or so-called "colds" or "grippe" cures; (5) Avoid infecting other members of your family by keeping away from them and requiring that your attendant while in the room with you shall wear a face mask made of four thicknesses of gauze; (6) See that spital and discharges from nose and throat are received in cloths and that used cloths are deposited in a disinfecting solution or promptly burned; (7) Always sleep alone when you have a cold; (8) If you have influenza see that the case is reported to the local health authorities. If you do not have a physician remember that the law requires your attendant, parent, or householder to report the case. Failure to report is punishable with a fine up to two hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail or both. It is required that the local health officer shall prosecute all persons guilty of this very necessary requirement.

A person suffering from influenza must be quarantined until five (5) days after his temperature has returned to normal. This is imperative. Finally bear this in mind any person suffering from a suspicious cold or influenza is an infection bearer and if he goes wilfully about spreading his infection to others with resulting sickness, misery and death, he is no better than the miserable individual who puts poison in food or water.

Safe Traveling.

It fills me with emotion, that peace enjoys a boom, we soon may sail the ocean and have no thought of doom; we'll board the vessels ruin' to Liverpool and Lunnun, and need not strap a gun on, or dread a briny tomb. The terror of the waters has had its little day; the submarine that slanders, can't make the business; we'll have a trip to Cadiz, and take along the ladies, nor have a fear that hades will break out on the way. I long to cross the briny, the sad and mournful sea, and visit Poland-China, and lamp the Zuyder Zee; but thinking of the dangers awaiting pilgrim strangers, and giddy ocean rangers, had put cold feet on me. I curbed my lust to wander, and pondered on sinking in the waves, it was against my wishes, to set, as wholesale dishes for slimy hunks, served up in uncooked styles. It made me shrink and shiver to think of billows dark, of yielding up my liver to some abnormal shark, of dying in a quarrel, that I might point a moral, and lying on the coral, all silent, cold and stark. But soon the ocean highways will be as safe again as are the country hwy's, the myrtle shaded lanes; and we can grip our maps, and buy new hats in Parry, a while in Brussels tarry, and snoop around in Spain.

EXAMINATIONS HAVE BEEN POSTPONED

Change in Date For Testing of Applicants For State Certificate Recommended by Health Board.—Supt. Vasconcellos Begins Second Term.

Supt. of Schools H. H. Vasconcellos yesterday received a telegram from Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction, stating that the examination for state teachers' certificates, scheduled for December 5 and 6, had been postponed on recommendation of the state board of health. Mr. Vasconcellos was directed to return with seals unbroken the questions previously sent to him in preparation for this examination.

Mr. Vasconcellos is one of the county officers just entering upon the duties of a four year term. But they are not new duties for the superintendent of schools has been serving in that capacity during a previous term and prior to that time had been assistant in the office of Supt. Montgomery. During his term of office Mr. Vasconcellos has shown earnest enthusiasm in his work and is giving to the schools of the county his best time and thought. W. B. Lowery is continuing as assistant in Mr. Vasconcellos' office, having for the past four years discharged in a very efficient way the duties of that position.

A POINEER ABOLITIONIST

J. D. McLain of Meredosia thinks his grandfather was one of the first abolitionists in this part of the country. His name was David Sharp and he came to this country from Switzerland and settled first in Virginia where he married and received as a wedding present a slave boy who had learned the baker's trade. He preferred to live in a free state and went to St. Louis and from that city to Illinois.

While in St. Louis persons tried to buy the boy offering $1,000 for him, but Mr. Sharp said he would never deal in human flesh and bringing the boy up to Illinois he set him free. Mr. McLain thinks his grandfather made one of the earliest entries of land in this county but as a part of the county went to Cass, Mr. Ayers is unable to find any entry.

SOME WAR WORK COMMITTEES RELIEVED

State Council of Defense Issues Statement Regarding Duty and Policy of the Organization.

In a letter from Samuel Insull, chairman of the state council of defense, received by M. F. Dunlap, various county committees of the council discharged from further activities. It is mentioned that the main purpose for which the state council of defense was organized has been accomplished and that the various activities can cease. Several departments of the council, however, are to be continued for the time being, as they will have some special connection, with reconstruction work. Paragraphs from Mr. Insull's letter follow:

Signing of the armistice the practical ending of the war marks the accomplishment of those purposes for which State Council of Defense was organized. A glorious victory has been achieved and the principles of Democracy and Righteousness for which we have fought have been vindicated, and those of us who have been unable to fight in our military and naval forces may justly feel that our effort as civilians have contributed largely to the winning of the war and that we are now entitled to an honorable discharge in the belief that we have "deserved well of the Republic."

Some of the departments of the State Council of Defense, notably the Publicity Committee, the Food Production and Conservation Committee, the Boys' Working Reserve, the License Bureau, the Unified Bureau of Public Speaker, the Advisory Committees, and the Highways Transportation Committee, must be maintained for the time being and continue their work until definitely advised.

The work of the Woman's Committee will be continued for the time being under the present organization. Eventually a number of the active departments will be transferred to various volunteer agencies.

With reference to the other activities the State Council hereby declares dissolved and honorably discharged the Counties Auxiliary, the Neighborhood Committees, the County Executive Committees, the Non-War Construction Bureau and the Commercial Economy Administration.

The State council of Defense will continue its official existence as provided by law until the formal declaration of peace, and will maintain its offices at 120 West Adams Street, Chicago, where all communications intended for the State Council of Defense or its executive departments should be addressed.

We venture to express the hope and suggestion that though no longer representing the State Council of Defense a certain form of organization might be maintained to deal with local civic problems and to stimulate all such home activities as tend towards the development of a higher standard of citizenship. One of the compensations for the war has been that many individuals who have never previously taken any active interest in public affairs have for several months past learned the benefits of organized effort for the public good, and some local organizations might well be created from the County Committees and local Neighborhood Auxiliaries as civic forces for public welfare.

TO HEAR LECTURE

Students of Illinois college will have the opportunity tomorrow evening of hearing a lecture on Illinois college by President Rammelkamp. It will be given at 7 o'clock and will doubtless prove of great interest to the students. The lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon views.

IN SOUTHERN CAMP.

Lieut. Robert R. Buckthorpe in a recent letter to his brother, T. H. Buckthorpe, gives some interesting facts about Camp Greenleaf, Ga. He was sent there shortly after the signing of the armistice, altho he had been commissioned more than a year before. Lieut. Buckthorpe has no intention as to how long his services will be required.

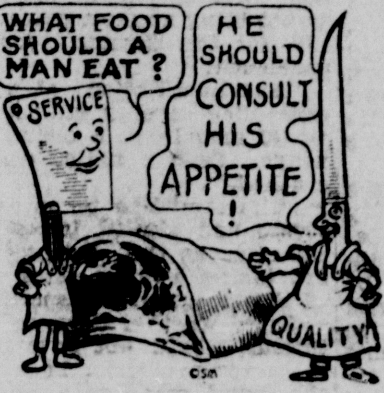

Charles Samson is a visitor in the city. Mr. Samson who was formerly in the directory business, is now associated with the Delco Light concern at Carrollton.

Stomach Troubles

Are you a sufferer? If you are, I want an opportunity to tell you what experience has shown that Chiropractic will do for you. Let me tell you what it has done for other sufferers.

The human body is a marvelous self-moving and self-keeping machine. It receives and uses Living Force, an energy from an outside source no one can explain.

The bones in the spine, which carries all impulse, are limited in motion by muscles which yield to allow bending and turning. These joints often slip their borders and are held there by muscular pull. This molests spinal nerves and confuses the health impulses they carry, which is the first cause of any disease.

The skilled Chiropractor finds and reforms these spinal defects and Nature then does the work originally intended.

MOBILIZATION OF CHILEAN ARMY ORDERED

Rumor U. S. in Agreement With Government as to Disposition of Disputed Provinces—Washington Denies Rumor.

Santiago, Chile, Dec. 3.—The United States in agreement with the Chilean government it is persistently rumored here will propose to Peru and Bolivia that Chile cede the province of Tacna to Peru and turn over the province of Arica to Bolivia the latter republic delivering to Chile a frontier province.

The mobilization of the Chilean army, already begun in the northern provinces has been ordered thruout the republic. The war ministry explains that this step was necessary to keep down threatened labor troubles.

This was the first information that the United States government had communicated with the Chilean and Peruvian governments concerning the dispute over the two provinces.

Diplomatic observers here suggested some time ago that should the American government be asked to intervene it would possibly take into consideration Bolivia's claim because the disputed territory was once a part of that republic and thru it Bolivia could again be given an outlet to the Pacific. Officials however, have declined to comment on this suggestion.

According to official information received today at the Chilean embassy the statement that the military and naval reserves have been called to arms is incorrect. What took place, according to this information was an administrative measure of an internal nature including a decision that it was advisable to continue in service the drafts recently discharged.

The Peruvian legation also was advised from Lima that the Peruvian military reserves have not been called to the colors. It also was said that the relations between Peru and Brazil are in no way affected by the dispute with Chile. There had been a report it was explained the Brazilian ambassador had been recalled from Lima as a result of the difficulties between the west coast republics.

Says U. S. Made No Suggestion Washington, Dec. 3.—The American government has made no suggestions whatever to Chile and Peru as to the disposition of the disputed provinces of Tacna and Arica. This was announced officially tonight at the state department.

"The state department," said the announcement, "has made no suggestion whatever as to territory but it has urged that every thing possible be done to maintain peaceful relations."

U. S. PREPARED FOR PEACE CONFERENCE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Striking evidence of the preparedness of the American government to enter into peace negotiations was given here today in an announcement that twenty-three members of an advisory commission of experts who have made a year's study of political and economic conditions in Europe and Asia will sail with President Wilson and his fellow delegates on the George Washington. With them will go several tons of documents and maps, which together with other records of their investigations already in Paris or on the way, comprise a collection of international data said to be without parallel in history.

These advisers to the peace commission who have conducted an exhaustive inquiry into foreign affairs by authority of the president and under the direction of Col. E. M. House, American civilian member of the inter-allied supreme war council and a delegate to the peace conference include experts in international law, college professors rated as specialists in the history and politics of the various nations and officers of the military intelligence division of the army. Using the building of the American geographical society here they have accumulated thru studies which began in Nov. 1917, voluminous records which because of their great value have been guarded day and night.

YANKS CONTINUE MARCH INTO GERMANY

Civilians Pay Little Attention to Americans On Their Movements—German Business Display Interest in Yanks.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION, Dec. 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—Further evidence of the determination of the Germans not to be jarred out of their assumed role of indifference was shown in every village into which the Americans marched today. The long lines of khaki clad troops resumed their movement toward the Rhine at daybreak passing thru dozens of villages until another twelve miles had been covered.

Farmers in the fields and residents in the villages and towns, glanced at the troops and went on with their work. Here and there Germans stared for a time curiously but rarely was there a display of emotion or even keen interest. With the exception of trifling acts by children there have been no signs of hostility reported. The German troops are well back in their retirement and apparently there is no desire whatever to hamper the working out of the terms of the armistice.

German business men, especially in Treves have already begun to display more interest in the Americans who as is customary with them, are beginning to spend their money. The prices of both foodstuffs and other articles are extremely high, but the soldiers desire souvenirs and they were quite ready to patronize shops which are far superior to those in any town thru which they passed. It is understood that the American military government proposes to deal sternly with any offenders against the regulations the army may establish, but the Germans appear to accept without question whatever orders are imposed.

A proclamation issued by General Pershing has evinced few expressions of appreciation from the Germans and there is a notable tendency on the part of the people of Treves and other of the larger communities to act on his suggestion to resume their normal activities.

The towns are filled with returning German soldiers, discharged from service, who since the Americans have arrived have been negotiating for civilian clothing to replace the uniforms.

1919 GUARANTEED WHEAT PRICES STAND

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The guaranteed price for the 1919 wheat, fixed at $2.25 a bushel, Chicago basis, will stand even though the Lever act under which the price was fixed should become operative thru conclusion of the tonight issued a statement of peace in the opinion of the food interpreting the Lever act and pointing out that the law provides that "all rights or liabilities under this act arising before its termination shall continue and may be enforced in the same manner as if the act had not terminated."

Wheat growers in many parts of the country, it was said, have become apprehensive that the guaranteed price for the 1919 crop might be rescinded thru conclusion of peace.

BEATTY DENOUNCES THE GERMAN NAVY

LONDON, Dec. 3.—(British Wireless Service.)—A scathing denunciation of the personnel of the German navy was made by Admiral Sir David Beatty, commander-in-chief of the British grand fleet in a speech addressed to a gathering of representatives of the first battle cruiser squadron on board the battle cruiser Lion prior to his departure for the Scapa Flow as an escort to the surrendered ships of German high seas fleet.

"We had expected them," said Admiral Beatty, "to have the courage that we looked for from those whose work lies upon the great waters and I am sure that the sides of this gallant old ship, which have been well hammered in the past, must have ached as I ached and as you ached, to give them another taste of what we had intended for them."

"Their humiliating end was the proper end for an enemy who has proved himself so lacking in chivalry. At sea his strategy, his tactics and his behavior have been beneath contempt and worthy of a nation which has waged war in the manner in which the enemy has waged war."

"We know that the British sailor has a large heart and a short memory. Try to harness the heart and lengthen the memory, and remember that the enemy which you are looking after is a despicable beast, neither more nor less. He is not worthy the sacrifice of the life of one blue jacket in the grand fleet and that is the one bright spot in the fact that he did not come out."

FORD MAY ASK RECOUNT OF BALLOTS

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 3.

Steps to obtain a recount of the ballots cast at the senatorial election last month are under contemplation by Henry Ford and his advisers, it was said here today on reliable authority.

The official tabulation of the vote showed that Ford running on the Democratic ticket was defeated for the election by Light. Commandant Truman H. Newberry, Republican by 7567.

Altho Mr. Ford shortly after the election announced in a formal statement that he did not intend to seek a recount he was quoted more recently as saying that while he did not want the seat in the senate he was "not so sure that he did not get it."

A recount of the votes cast at the senatorial election is possible only thru action by the United States senate as the Michigan election laws do not permit the state canvassing board to make one. The statement that Mr. Ford was considering steps for a recount came from one of his closest advisers who declined to be quoted. He made it clear however, that no definite decision had been received. Mr. Ford himself was not in the city late this afternoon.

CONVICT TAKES STAND TO SAVE GIRL'S LIFE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—James F. Reagan, Sing Sing prison inmate and confessed author of a long series of crimes, took the witness stand in criminal court here today and placed his own future in jeopardy in an effort to save Miss Elizabeth Baksa, 19 year old Freemansburg, Pa., girl, from conviction on a charge of murdering Mrs. Helen Hamel, a New York lodging house keeper last February.

Seemingly somewhat bored by the proceedings, the convict played the chief role of what attorneys for Miss Baksa termed "an unprecedented and almost miraculous occurrence."

He said that Miss Baksa was innocent and said that Mrs. Hamel came to her death while he and a companion were robbing her home.

DRYS PLAN BIG SPEAKERSHIP FIGHT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 3.

"Dry" members of the Illinois house of representatives who met here today, ostensibly for the purpose of attending the centennial celebration exercises, let it be known that an attempt will be made to elect a speaker unequivocally "dry."

Parker Shields, superintendent of the Springfield district of the Anti-Saloon league, said David E. Shanahan would not be supported by the anti-liquor forces for the speakership.

The "drys" claim 84 votes in the house with only 77 votes needed to elect a speaker. Sixty republicans are said to be "dry" and the caucus majority is 46 votes.

MORE SUBS SURRENDER

LONDON, Dec. 3.—(British Wireless Service.)—The first surrendered German U-boat to arrive in the Thames, the U-64, passed up the river at noon today. On her mast the German commercial flag was flying below a white ensign. The submarine was taken up the river to her mooring place by two tugs, while crowds watched her progress and cheered.

A second submarine and later a third large boat of the Deutschland class also made their way up the river and were moored alongside wharves.

EXEMPTION BOARD NEWS

ACTIVITIES OF BIG BREWERS REVEALED

Louis N. Hammerling Tells of $200,000 Advertising Campaign to Stop Manufacture of Munitions in U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Organization in 1915 of a $200,000 advertising campaign by which it was hoped to stop the manufacture in the United States of munitions for the allies was admitted by Louis N. Hammerling, president of the American Association of Foreign Language Newspapers in testifying today before the senate committee investigating activities of brewers and German propagandists.

Edward A. Rumley, recent owner of the New York Evening Mail and Dr. Heinrich F. Albert, a German propagandist, were connected with the campaign by the witness who declared that the money for the insertion of the advertising in practically all of the 619 newspapers of the Association of which he is president was contributed largely by Rumley. He said his dealings with Albert consisted in the collection thru the German propagandist of a portion of the $200,000 which Rumley contributed. Hammerling denied upon questioning any connection or acquaintanceship with former German ambassador Bernstorff and sought to justify his part in the advertising campaign with the statement that he believed the munitions being manufactured in this country were being shipped to Germany. Hammerling admitted he knew the German ports in 1915 were closed, but asserted that knowledge had nothing to do with his belief that munitions were being shipped from this country to Germany.

"Was it for the almighty dollar, or to help Germany or to help humanity?" asked Senator Nelson, of Minnesota.

"It was to help humanity," replied Hammerling, "and I also was glad to get the advertising. If I had any idea it was in the interests of the German government I would not have done it. I thought the munitions were being sent to Germany."

Hammerling denied having given the New York Times an interview in which he was quoted as stating that the $200,000 fund was subscribed by churches, societies and individuals. Asked about the placing of the advertising Hammerling said the newspaper owned by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, chairman of the foreign relations committee published the advertisement without charge.

Hammerling's connection with the American Leader, a semi-monthly New York paper was shown by Major Humes. Hammerling said one of the contributors to this periodical was Chas. Nagle, secretary of commerce and labor. President Taft's cabinet who received $125 for each article on personal liberty.

DRAKE STARTS FLU PROSECUTION WAR

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 3.

To check threatened recurrence of a general influenza epidemic, Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, state health director, orders all Illinois health officers today to begin immediate prosecutions in all instances where regulations are being infringed.

Failure to report cases or suspected cases of influenza or to keep the patient isolated during sickness and for a period of five days after return of temperature to normal, required by law, Dr. Drake said, must not continue.

"Unless we control the epidemic by the middle of January when the pneumonia season begins we can expect an appalling death rate," he stated.

Influenza cases now developing, it was said, are less virulent than formerly.

MR. CRABTREE IN STATE RED CROSS

Resigns as County Campaign Chairman to Take Charge of District.

Edgar E. Crabtree has become a member of the state executive committee of the Illinois branch of the Red Cross. While Mr. Crabtree will serve in an advisory capacity with reference to state Red Cross affairs, he will be particularly in charge of a district including twelve to fifteen counties.

In order to make it possible for Mr. Crabtree to undertake his new duties the Morgan county Red Cross society accepted his resignation as campaign chairman. M. F. Dunlap, chairman of the county Red Cross, yesterday announced that A. C. Metcalf had been appointed chairman to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Crabtree's resignation. A Red Cross membership campaign is scheduled for a comparatively early date and Mr. Metcalf is already working out the necessary plans.

Mr. Crabtree said last night that he had not been advised fully as to all the duties in connection with his work as a member of the state executive committee other than he had the responsibility of supervision of a group of counties. He will report to George B. Stadden, director membership campaign, in Chicago, and it is possible from time to time will meet with other members of the executive committee in conference over Red Cross affairs. While some of the organizations associated in war work have nearly completed their tasks, it is by no means true of the great Red Cross society and large responsibilities remain for this organization in connection with reconstruction work.

The work of the Red Cross was only emphasized by the war for the organization was doing relief work on a very large scale in the pre-war days. For months to come, as indicated, there will be special demands upon the Red Cross society and as the thousands of returning soldiers testify to the efficacy of its work no doubt public interest will increase and there will be a still larger list of members.

SERGT. MAJOR CASE VISITOR IN CITY

In Cuba When Call to Military Service Came—Recently Discharged from Officers' Training Camp.

Regimental Sergt. Major Warren Case is in Jacksonville for a ten days' visit with his mother, Mrs. Warren Case, and his sister, Miss Mary Case, at their home or West College avenue. Sergt. Major Case was discharged from the military officers' training school at Camp Taylor Monday and started immediately for his Jacksonville visit.

Prior to his entry into the military service last March Sergt. Major Case was at Havana, Cuba, where as a representative of Tiffany and Co., he had charge of the financial part of the contract for the decoration of the palace. He had been sent to Havana from Waterbury, Conn., where he was registered, and the call to report for service came from Waterbury. He was first in the 7th division at Camp Devens and afterward was attached to Camp headquarters and then assigned to the officers' training camp at Camp Taylor. He had just completed his course of training and won his commission about the time of the signing of the armistice and his release from the service has already been mentioned.

Sergt. Major Case said last night that he had been released from the training camp at the rate of about 1,000 a day. There were at the time of the signing of the armistice 12,000 in training and now less than 2,000 remain. After completing his visit here Sergt. Major Case is to leave for New York City.

JUDGE'S OFFICE MAY BE IN COURT HOUSE

Judge Samuel Expresses Belief Office Belongs There—Change in County Agent's Quarters Possible.

Judge Paul Samuel may have an office in the court house. The arrangements have not yet been definitely made. Judge Samuel has the feeling that as a matter of convenience the public is entitled to have the office of the judge in the court house building, even though from a mere personal standpoint he would prefer to maintain his office elsewhere. Recently he let his views be known to the board of county commissioners and the matter is one for them to decide later on.

The room which in former years was used by the county judge has for the past year been occupied by the county agent, G. B. Kendall, as an office for the Farmers Club. In most counties where an agent has been employed by the cooperative effort of the department of agriculture of the state and a group of farmers, the office is maintained in the court house building. Under the law a county board can appropriate as much as $5,000 a year for the salary of a county agent and the maintenance of his work. While in most counties a part of this salary and expense is paid from the treasury, the board here was not asked to make any other contribution than the furnishing of headquarters. The office which the Morgan county agent has used during the past year is accessible but is not large for the growing work of the agent and does not provide room sufficient for meetings of the county conferences of the offices. So while there are distinct advantages to the club in having headquarters in the court house where light, heat and janitor service are provided, there will be some other advantages if quarters are found elsewhere which are more commodious.

In some other counties where the headquarters of the county agent are not maintained in the court house, a store building or office building is used, which is large enough to provide room facilities in some cases also a small assembly room is provided where community or organizations of various kinds hold their business sessions. In this county there are numerous city and county organizations which would find such headquarters rooms a matter of real convenience and the advantages of a rest room have often been presented and discussed.

It now seems that out of the whole situation that some plan of action may be evolved which will both provide an office for the county judge in the court house where it belongs, and also suitable and adequate headquarters for the county agent and the Farmers Club.

The Farmer

Do you know that the man with 40, 80, or 160 acres of land has one of the best and safest investments in the world? He is the Chief Executive and Personal Representative of his estate and his table groans with the luxuries that the millionaire in his palace would envy; for there is the fruits in season, and vegetables without limit or stint and cereals the whole year around, yellow legged chickens, turkey, pig and lamb and beef ever sweet and fresh with a flavor that cannot be bought in the best market, yet it is the farmer's daily fare.

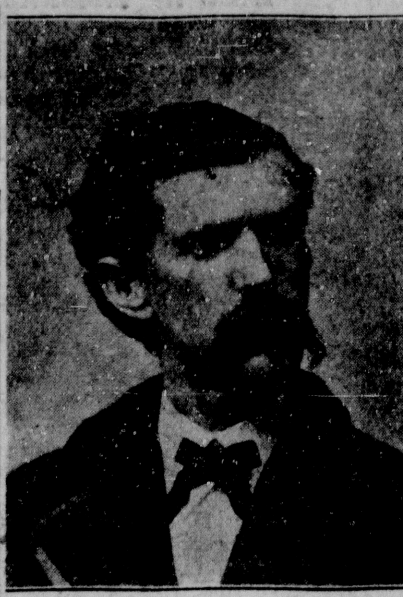

There are no certain hours that he must be at his post or be considered tardy, there is a constant change of scenery and work that keeps him fresh and vigorous; there is time for study and recreation and he can go to town, a picnic, or to the fair without the thought of his business stopping or being neglected.

He has a safety in his investment that there is in no other business for his land cannot burn up or blow away or rust out but gets more valuable with time and cultivation.

If you want a farm, come and see me.

Capt. J. M. S. Wales.

Capt. J. M. Wales, who has recently entered upon his duties as a member of the board of county commissioners is the first veteran of the war in the rebellion for many years to hold that position. The accompanying picture of Capt. Wales is not a recent one but still bears some likeness to the commissioner, for the passing years have dealt gently with him, notwithstanding his terrible war time experiences. Men who have been in the front line trenches in the world war have suffered intense hardship and when the real facts are known about life in the German prisons it will probably develop that there has been untold suffering there. But even so, the truth about German prison life cannot be more gruesome than the story of Andersonville, and Capt. Wales knows that story well.

SON WRITES FROM FRANCE.

Mrs. Thomas Hanning of Prentice has received a letter from her son George Hanning who is in military service in France. The letter was written the day after the signing of the armistice, November 12 and the young man said he was well and had come thru the conflict without injury. He thought he probably would sail for home some time soon.

Why worry about butter, or its price, when there are substitutes which are just as pure, just as nourishing, just as palatable, and so much cheaper?

Boys Know What Mother Wants

Father Should Know What She Needs

If Fathers spent as many hours at Mother's side as children do, they would quickly recognize the cause of her mind and body weariness. Children at play often hear the wish for a Hoosier and its many time and labor-saving features. We therefore say to Fathers: "Heed the Hoosier Christmas suggestion."

But remember that there is but one Hoosier. It is the worthy kitchen helper for your home. It saves health and strength and miles of steps. It places 400 articles within arm's reach. Women sit comfortably while at work. They reach instead of walk.

Make this a Hoosier Christmas. Come now and select one of several models. If another style would suit "her" better, we'll gladly exchange it later. But come now before our limited allotment is gone.

And remember that you need make but a small deposit.

Equally small amounts pay the balance.

Every wanted convenience is found in the Hoosier—scientifically arranged and of practical construction.

It is the new Brunswick method of reproduction that makes it possible to play all records as they never have been played before. There are two essentials to correct reproduction. The ULTONA reproduces the vibrations from the record. The All Wood Tone Amplifier rounds out the tones in their full, life-like beauty without the usual metallic harshness. The ULTONA is not an attachment, but a distinctly new creation—an essential part of the Brunswick's new method of reproduction. By a turn of the hand it adapts itself to any of the vastly different types of records. The playing point, the correct position, and the precise degree of pressure needed—all conditions are met by this amazingly simple device. So think of the Brunswick as something more than a pleasure giving instrument. It is the ideal phonograph for the home to develop in growing children a love and understanding of all good music. For it plays the music of all artists. And it plays it at its best.

Low Meat Prices vs. High Cattle Prices

If the farmer cannot get enough for his live stock, he raises less, and the packer gets less raw material.

If the consumer has to pay too much for his meat, he eats less of it, and the packer finds his market decreased.

The packer wants the producer to get enough to make live-stock raising profitable, and he wants the price of meat so low that everyone will eat it.

But all he can do, and what he would have to do in any case to stay in business, is to keep down the cost of processing the farmer's stock into meat so that the consumer pays for the meat and by-products only a little more than the farmer gets for his animals.

For example, last year Swift & Company paid for its cattle about 90 per cent of what it got for meat and by-products (such as hides, tallow, oils, etc.)

If cattle from the farm were turned miraculously into meat in the hands of retailers (without going through the expense of dressing, shipping and marketing), the farmer would get only about 1 1/3 cents per pound more for his cattle, or consumers would pay only about 2 1/4 cents per pound less for their beef!

Out of this cent or two per pound, Swift & Company pays for the operation of extensive plants, pays freight on meats, operates refrigerator cars, maintains branch houses, and in most cases, delivers to retailers all over the United States. The profit amounts to only a fraction of a cent, and a part of this profit goes to build more plants, to give better service, and to increase the company's usefulness to the country.

LEONARD BENTO GETS WAR CHEVRONS

U. S. S. Ohio

Dear Mother:
I have received my war chevrons from Navy department and it surely is fine looking. It is for a battle with Mr. Sub, and for high-seas service of which I am proud of. There were twenty of us on this ship that got them. Just the gun crews is all the one that fired on the Hun. We received orders Saturday morning, June 1 at 3:15 to steam out of Hampton Roads for high-sea and keep a sharp lookout for enemy craft that were in those waters. Us being flagship of the column steering along about one hundred miles off Cape Hatteras in a fog, met the enemy submarine which was coming how on at a range of 500 yards. At 11:55 we started firing at 11:58 cease firing. My station being trainer on No. 19 gun, 6-inch, there being only large blocks of oil left where the once enemy submarine was.

SEBASTIAN DEFRATES FOUND DEAD BY SON

Old Resident Dies Suddenly of Apoplexy—Had Lived Here 65 Years—Inquest Today.

Sebastian DeFrates a resident of Jacksonville for 65 years was found dead in an outbuilding at his home, 740 West Lafayette avenue about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by his son, William DeFrates.

The son summoned Dr. Wolfe immediately upon finding the body but life was extinct. Dr. Wolfe gave as his opinion that apoplexy was the cause of death. Mr. DeFrates was working about the yard during the day and had been sawing some wood and doing other work. He had appeared in his usual health and had not complained of any illness.

Deceased was born in the Island of Madeira, January 20, 1853 and came to this country in 1853, settling immediately in Jacksonville. He was united in marriage in this city to Frances DeCosta who survives him together with the following children: George and Victor DeFrates of Los Angeles, Cal.; William of Jacksonville and Roy of Hanover, and Mrs. James Nunes of Jacksonville. He also leaves a stepson, John DeCosta of North Dakota. Two children preceded him in death, one son Fred dying in California about a month ago. His aged brother, Joseph, passed away just a week ago.

For many years Mr. DeFrates followed the occupation of farming and was accounted successful in that work. He devoted himself in later years largely to truck gardening. He was a man of strong convictions and was firm in his friendships and noted for his integrity.

Owing to the manner of his death Coroner Rose was notified. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of W. W. Gillham and Coroner Rose will hold an inquest today.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

HAVE BEEN MARRIED FIFTY-FIVE YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Veerlin Daniels Observed Important Anniversary Tuesday.

The fifty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Veerlin Daniels was observed Tuesday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. J. T. Gunn, two miles west of the city. Only immediate members of the family were present but the day was made memorable in various ways. Although far advanced in years, Mr. and Mrs. Daniels are both strong and thoroughly enjoy life. All but two years of their married life has been spent in Morgan county, and few are the residents who are better known.

Their marriage occurred Dec. 3, 1863 and they began house-keeping on a farm about five miles north of the city. Seven children were born to them and they have twenty-five grandchildren and four great grandchildren. It is a marvelous record indeed, that all members of this large family group are alive, death having never darkened the Daniels home.

Much of the time Mr. and Mrs. Daniels now spend at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Gunn, and there they receive every comfort and care. The sons and daughters in addition to Mrs. Gunn are George of Tallula; Joseph of Montrose, Neb.; Barton of Sour Lake, Texas; Mrs. J. A. Holm, Copper City, Mich.; Martin A. F. Spencer of Pueblo.

WANTS QUARANTINE RULES OBEYED

"Editor of the Journal:
"I understand that a petition is being circulated in the city, to lift the ban on the influenza epidemic. While I do not doubt the honesty of the parties interested in this movement, personally I think it a bad thing for the city. St. Louis saw fit recently to lift the ban on this disease and three days ago they put the lid down tight again, with 700 new cases reported. Nearer home at Winchester the authorities that the time was ripe to follow St. Louis' example, and it was reported that thirty-seven new cases were found and again the schools and churches have been closed. Still nearer home at Litterberry, the good people of this vicinity opened their schools and churches, visited with one another and as a result the epidemic has started again and the community has seen fit to close the schools and churches once more.

"As a business man I understand that this epidemic has had its influence on trade and in a great many instances has reduced it. However, as a citizen, we have fared pretty well, but I do not see the advisability of lifting this ban and then, in a week be compelled to close up the schools, playhouses and prohibit all public gatherings. I think we need to use a little common sense in regard to this epidemic. Cut out the visiting as much as possible. Instead of lifting the ban, make the quarantine stricter. There should be something more than a threat given, to persons who know there is a home where the disease exists and yet go to and from that home as tho nothing was the matter. The town is short of physicians at best, also nurses are scarce, and as a people we cannot afford to have any increase in the number of cases by taking a chance at this time. Looking at it from a purely business view point if the ban were lifted now it might mean that just when people were at the height of their Christmas buying and festivities, the lid would be put on tighter than ever.

"If each citizen will do his part in obeying the laws governing this disease the sooner it will be stamped out and thereby overcome the necessity, later on of closing the business houses.

"A Merchant."

JURY RETURNS VERDICT IN FAVOR OF FILSON

Corn Sale Suit from Franklin Decided in Circuit Court.

In the circuit court yesterday the time of Judge Smith was largely occupied with hearing the case of John F. Nordsick vs. William Filson, a suit in assumpsit.

The plaintiff was represented by Walter W. Wright and Paul Moriarty, and the defendant was represented by James O. Priest and Carl E. Robinson. The case was heard by the following jury: Joseph Palesky, Charles E. Gunn, S. E. Bergschneider, G. H. Cruzan, Lawrence Quinlan, Allison Thomason, T. H. #### MEMORIAL FOR HAROLD THOMPSON

Where the violets will be blooming,
Smiling in the gentle breeze,
And the zephyrs sing sweet carols
As they flit among the trees,
Where the merry songsters warble
From the morn' till close of night,
There we have laid our darling
Evermore from mortal sight.
Death has robbed us of our treasure,
And the angels have him now
Where no shade of pain or sorrow
Comes to cloud our darling's brow;
O'er his grave the birds are singing
In the sunlight sweet and fair
But we hope some day to meet him
When we're done with earth and care.

"With the Colors"

Letters of Interest from Morgan County Boys in the Country's Service.

Geo. F. Sehy Writes to Mrs. Saner.

Saumur Artillery School, Nov. 3rd, 1918.
Dear Mrs. Saner:

It is with a sad heart and a letter that I regret to write this afternoon, as it was yesterday morning when a letter from home came to me and the first act was to see what the newspaper clippings were and with a shock I saw the name of Clarence and in a few minutes I realized just what had happened. I thought of him of the many occasions we enjoyed ourselves together, how we enlisted in the army last December and of the close connection together till we were parted in different companies and in a short time parting for the land across the sea in which we did not know what would be our destiny, but still with joy to do our part in this great conflict; so did Clarence do at all times and may God bless him and reward him for the noble and patriotic sacrifice he has made for his country, and that it is a loss that is heart breaking to you; and I sympathize with you very much as I know a mother's love for her son is immeasurable of the one so far from home fighting that he might protect it. So I hope to console you for having a son that I am sure is with God today in heaven. It was this morning I got up at 6 o'clock and went to communion and also went to church last night offering my good deed to God for the benefit of my ever worthy and never forgotten friend Clarence.

Many times since being over here I have thought of him and would like to write to him but could not find out his address; and that most every letter I wrote back I asked if they knew where Clarence was here in France but no one knew. Till the clippings from this newspaper came I now realize where he is at and I am going to write one of the boys of my company who is there and have him find out what he can of Clarence's death and condition before the final summons came. Another thing I will ask this friend of mine is about his grave, where it is and all I can about it. May be sometime Mrs. Saner, I will be able to get off or probably get in that section of the country and will be very glad to find his grave and if possible get a photo of it. I will write again when I can about it but it may take time to do all of this correspondence back and forth.

I am well, thank God, and I hope the rest of you are the same. Willie said that Reginald was out in California. I am afraid the news will go hard with him and he will get somewhat lonesome and want to come home. I receive quite a few letters from home and find out a great deal that is going on. I hope that Willie, Reginald and the fine young set of boys will not have to get in any serious fighting. The war, I think, is coming to an end and the Germans can not make a stand. Their allies are all giving in to us and are ready for peace. I am working every day in the property office of the Q. M. at this post. I do not think I will get out of here but if I go to the front I will be willing and ready to go.

I will close now and hope these few lines will console you and transmit to you my sympathy on hearing the news of my lost friend, Clarence Saner. May God bless him.

Sincerely,
Leo F. Sehy.

The following lines have been contributed by Private David Johnson, now with the American forces in France:

Here is to the boys, who wait over the sea.

To fight for America, the land of the free.

They meet their appointments and sure have some fun,

Because the appointment was with the Hun.

They have met in the valley and met on the hill,

But the Hun won't show fight, but the Yanks sure will.

So let them run to their holes in the ground.

We will run them all down till the last one is found.

Then we'll sail to our homes, far o'er the sea.

And drink to old America, the land of the free.

Yours truly,
David Johnson.

Homer Jeffries Writes.

France, Nov. 8, 1918.
Mrs. John Jeffries,
Bedwell street,
Dear Mother:-

As I have a few spare moments I will drop you a few lines to let you know I am still alive and am having a good time as could be expected under the present conditions, and am getting plenty of clothes and plenty of good things to eat, such as bacon and beans, and plenty of good strong coffee. So I guess that is all a fighting man can wish for at present. The way things look, we will all be home in one year from now, which sure sounds good to me. Well, mother, I saw Clarence and he told me that he got a leave and went home before he came over here. I would of liked to do the same thing, but I could not; but I got one thing on him. I got over here before he did and he did not have to look down on me and say I would have to eat any more beef steak before I could handle him. For I am just as big as he. Hat! Hat! Well, mother, I guess you think I am still a baby, yet the way I write. But it is all I can think of writing or in other words all I am allowed to write. But when I come home I can tell you all. So don't get mad at this little letter, and say I am not thinking of home, for I am and tell all of the folks I said hello. Well I guess I will close. I remain,
Your loving son,

Baby Coming To Your Home?

The Wonderful Event That Will Bring Much Gladness.

Are you looking forward, dear prospective mother, to the wonderful, glorious time when you shall hold in your arms the little life, which is of your flesh and blood, the feelings of mingling?

Now is the time to get in condition to see the crisis, and three generations of women have found in the time-honored preparation, Mother's Friend, a grateful, penetrating remedy to prepare their systems to withstand the shock.

The action of this famous remedy is to relieve tension on drawn nerves, cords, tendons and ligaments, to relieve strain and discomfort, such as nausea, nervousness, arising-down and stretching pains. By regular use during the period the muscles expand easily when baby is born; pain is danger at the crisis is naturally less in the hours are fewer. Do not neglect the use of Mother's Friend. It is for external application only, is absolutely safe and wonderfully effective.

working hard every day. Have enjoying myself as best I can and I hear from mother lately? I hear from home, but the letters come irregular and with none of the precision of the mail movement in the States. I presume that you would like to know about the war; when it will end, and so on, well, when I was back in the States I thought I knew a great deal about the war. Now the closer I get and the more I see, the less I know about it. All our official news comes from the States, and the rumors are so conflicting that we pay little or no attention to them. Of course all of us expect that it will end soon, but our expectations have no effect on the outcome. Our hardest work is to get what we want to eat. Of course we get what we need, but what we need and what we want do not correspond.

One of the things we want is jam. And I made a fruitless trip of five miles a couple of nights ago to get it. You see we do not hesitate about taking short trips of five or ten miles. I think of what such a walk would have meant to me when I was in civil life. About four days ago two of us carried a hundred seventy-five pounds of beef three miles and were ready for more walks when we got in. We hear lots of music here, but it is not piano or violin music, yet it has much interest for us. But I would like that it were the home music that I heard for I am better pleased with that brand. Our time is occupied pretty much and so I think I shall have to close, dress a little moustache I am cultivating and go to bed.

E. K. FULLER WRITES HOME.

Dear Mother:

Received your postal. So you are looking for me home are you? Don't think I will be discharged until spring. I suppose it is growing pretty cold at home is it not? It is cold here. The wind is blowing across the plains. I certainly dread to spend another winter here. It is hot one day and cold as the very deuce the next.

I have given it all up now about going across since the war is over. A government man from the southern war department of San Antonio, Texas, visited Port Sill, and spoke to our regiment. He said for none of us boys to feel discouraged over not going across, for they praise us at Washington, D. C. and the Southern War department for what we have done to keep their officers training camp going so well. He said they gave us as much credit as any regiment in France. He said this regiment is called the best in the world. So I can say when I come home I was in the best artillery outfit in the U. S. army. We still hold the world's record for rapid firing. You have heard of the French 75's being such a famous gun. We beat them firing with their own guns. I must tell you about the big parade we had in Lawton. There was nine artillery regiments and 400 trucks and fifty airplanes which flew over Lawton in battle formation. They looked like a big bunch of ducks. When the first regiment arrived in Lawton the last had not pulled out of Port Sill, the distance being eight miles. The parade was ten miles long. The head of the parade would have pulled thru Jacksonville two miles and the regiment in the rear would have still been in Woodson. People from all over the state came to see it. Tom ought to have seen the big cake Louise Fuller sent me. It was a dandy. It was one foot and one half each way, and five inches high. I certainly appreciated it. Give my best regards to all. I am your son,

Edward K. Fuller.

FOOD HOARDERS IN TROUBLE

Mr. B. Z. Ant and Mrs. Camel Called On for Explanations as to Pernicious Activity.

Mr. B. Z. Ant, a well-known citizen of this community, was arrested at his home last night on orders of the food administrator and charged with hoarding food. A large quantity of bread crumbs and other high-priced foodstuffs were found in the basement of Mr. Ant's home. The discovery is somewhat of a surprise as Mr. Ant has always borne an excellent reputation for industry; in fact the proverb "Go to the Ant, thou sluggard," so often used, was originally written about a direct ancestor of Mr. Ant.

Witnesses testified that they had seen Mr. Ant on many occasions carrying food to his home and it is thought he has gone so far as to enlist the aid of his friends and relatives in carrying food. Enough edibles to last all winter were found at the Ant home.

Mr. Ant is unable to give any satisfactory explanation of his offense except that some unseen force compelled him to store the food away, as he would need it later on. He denies vigorously that he intended to hold it for higher prices. His case is being considered by the food administrator.

This is the second arrest made by food officials in this neighborhood recently. Mrs. Camel having been found guilty of violating the food regulation regarding the hoarding of fat. Other arrests are likely to follow.—"Bugtown Bugle." Correspondence of the Indianapolis Star.

DEATH AS ENTRY INTO JOY

Writer Thinks Mankind Exaggerates Importance of Incident of Earthly Dissolution.

Apart from the mystery of lives cut off in their early prime, and this is the horrid catastrophe of war, it is certain that in our natural clinging to life we exaggerate the importance of the incident of death. "Will you never find an abiding peace?" said a friend to a restless poet. He replied, "All life is a wandering to find home."

Michael Fairless writes in the Road Mender: "To the large majority death is Pluto, king of the dark unknown whence no traveler returns, rather than Azrael, brother and friend, lord of the mansion of life. Strange how men shun him as he waits in the shadow, watching our straining after immortality, sending his comrade sleep to prepare us for himself. When the hour strikes he comes—very gently, very tenderly, if we will have it so—folds the tired hands together, takes the way-worn feet in his broad, strong palm; and lifting us in his wonderful arms he bears us swiftly down the valley and across the water of Remembrance. Very pleasant art thou, O Brother Death, thy love is wonderful; passing the love of women."

Local Patriotism.

"The extent to which all classes of society have brought their patriotism into practice has been marvelous, was a remark made by Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, V. C., in a recent conversation.

As an instance of this he mentioned how cheaply yet efficiently a wounded soldier's hospital, within a stone's throw of his residence at Harlow, was run.

Sir Evelyn is actively interested in its management, and his daughter works there every day as a pantry maid, along with others similarly stationed in life. The cooking is done by three ex-cooks, who will not accept a penny for their services. The whole laundry work is done free of charge.—London Times.

Ancient Cameo Sold.

Probably executed for that patron of the arts, the Roman emperor Hadrian, a superb cameo of the head of Medusa, wonderfully carved from a boss of translucent chalcidony, was sold at auction here, recently, bringing 1,750 guineas (about $8,750). It was a classic reminder of a classic sale, for it formed part of the incomparable Marlborough gems which realized, en bloc, 35,000 guineas in June, 1875, passing to the late David Brodell, of Battlesden Park. The collection was formed by George, third duke of Marlborough, and comprised gems which had belonged to such famous connoisseurs as Thomas Howard, earl of Arundel; William, second earl of Bessborough, and Philip Dormer, earl of Chesterfield.—London Telegraph.

Aerial Compasses.

Many difficulties had to be overcome in the production of a satisfactory compass for aerial work. Chief among these was that of neutralizing the magnetism of the engine (and in particular the magnetos), and of preventing the effect of centrifugal force, which caused the card or dial inside the compass to swing in a direction quite independent of north when the airplane was banking on a turn. However, a truly excellent compass is now in use.

Soldiers Learning English.

It has been discovered that there are thousands of men in our National army who cannot speak or read English. For that reason the library service of the American Library association has established classes in English in nearly all of the big training camps. There is a heavy demand for books, and even "First Readers" are on the list of books asked for and—of course—supplied.

MAY MEAN MUCH TO WORLD

Aviators Believe That Flying Is Bound to Have Great Influence on the Minds of Men.

Flying, in the opinion of British aviators, is going to change the character of the world's thought. It will have a broadening influence and it will bring a fresher, clearer flow of ideas into the brains of men.

A man, the flyers argue, who has seen before him at the same time the cliffs of England, the long flat fields of Holland and the smiling countryside of Belgium and France is bound to think in a different way than a man whose horizon has always been bounded by bricks and mortar, or even by hill and dale.

Traveling may have made him think nationally, but flying will make him think far more largely. He will see England and France lying close to each other, separated only by a shining strip of water. He will see the green and brown mosaic of Belgium, which in its turn merges into the distant shadow of Holland, while, still farther on, across the wide Scheldt he will see the distant lowlands sweep on over the rim of the world.

How will he regard petty spites between individuals and cliques then? the birdman asks. He can cover with his thumb from the heights a feverish city swarming with a million people. What will he think of those who live next to each other and will not speak? How mean and petty their quarrels and jealousies and hates will seem.

The true meaning of human intercourse and friendship will come home to him. He will gain an almost divine outlook upon the world. Dishonesty, civil strife, all will seem to him contemptible. Perhaps, say the aviators, this is the new view which will bring the millennium.

NOTHING DOING FOR JOSEPH

Might Be the Engineer, but Found He Had Little Control Over Steam Powers.

Meekly made up his mind that he wasn't going to be bossed any longer by his wife, so when he went home at noon he called out, imperiously: "Laura! Laura!"

Mrs. Meekly came out of the kitchen with perspiration on her face, her hands covered with war flour, and a rolling-pin in her hand.

"What do you want with Laura?" she asked.

Meekly staggered, but braced himself up. "I want you to understand, madam—and he tapped his breast dramatically—"that I am the engineer of this establishment, that I am—"

"Oh, you are, are you? Well, Joseph, I want you to understand that I"—here she looked dangerous—"I am the boiler that might blow up and sling the engineer over into the next street. Do you hear the steam escaping, Joseph?"

Joseph heard, and prayed that he might be passed Grade 1 when he went before the medical board.—London Tit-Bits.

Locating Ore Beds.

Beds of ore are stated to have been located at a distance of two and a half miles by the electrical method patented in the United States by Professor R. A. Fessenden. In the locality where the existence of valuable ores is suspected, a number of holes several miles apart are bored, then filled with water, and a Fessenden sound oscillator is immersed in one as a transmitting apparatus, the receiver submerged in each of the other holes being an Elnthoven recording oscillograph. The holes may be five miles or more apart over the area being investigated. In the study of the oscillograph records, special attention is given to the relation between sounds received direct and those from echoes, and it is found possible to get a fair idea of the character of intervening masses of rock and of the position and distance of neighboring deposits of ore.

World's Greatest Soldier.

Physically, Foch is a little man, his inches are about those of Napoleon, and he has Grant's fondness for the cigar. Like Joffre, a southerner, he has frankness of speech which his old commander has never displayed. Unlike Petain his words are rarely caustic and he has made friends among all his allies. An old man, close to seventy, yet younger than Clemenceau, he was still handsome when the war began, but the strain has marked his face and only his eyes reveal an unshaken spirit.—Frank H. Simonds in Metropolitan.

Sing Sing Jail Short of Labor.

The labor shortage has hit even Sing Sing, which has a stationary supply of 1,500 men. The officials are puzzled because they are unwilling to employ women. Although Warden Moyer has an allowance for a maid, he never has hired one. The only woman ever employed within the prison walls, a telephone operator, left after a few days, saying that there were too many men.

Enterprising Alaskan Village.

Noorvik, a native village near Nome, Alaska, is said to be the only Eskimo village in northern Alaska possessing electric lights and a wireless plant. The light plant and wireless station were installed by Delbert Replogle, teacher at the Noorvik government school. Mr. Replogle, who was in Nome recently on his way to the States, said he left natives in charge of the improvements.

NO GENERAL RULE POSSIBLE

Matter of Proper Amount of Bodily Exercise Must Be Left to Discretion of Individual.

"It is an axiom that mental excellence is to a very considerable extent dependent upon a man's physical condition," declared Secretary of State Robert Lansing. "It is equally true that rules of health, except the most general, depend in large measure upon the individual and upon his peculiar needs.

"If I were asked to lay down rules which might be applied generally," continued the American premier, "I would embody them in the phrase 'More fresh air and less food.' How much bodily exercise should be taken and its character depend upon the individual, his physical condition and, to an extent, on his tastes. Of course, exercise is, as a rule, beneficial, but it ought to be a pleasure to the one taking it if he would get the best results.

"It may sound like heresy, but I sometimes wonder whether exercise, when it is not a diversion, is really worth while. Certainly the mind is not rested if it rebels against certain forms of physical training which are being taken, and recreation for the mind of one engaged in intellectual pursuits is, in my opinion, one of the most essential purposes of exercise of the muscles.

"I believe, however, as I have said, that fresh air is one of the great restoratives, and the fact that exercise is generally taken in the open is one of its chief benefits."—From "Secretary Lansing's Story of His Health and Energy," by Richard M. Winans in Physical Culture.

KILL OFF PREDATORY BEASTS

Ridding Ranges of Ravaging Rogues Results in Saving More Than $5,000,000 Worth of Stock.

It is estimated that the bureau of biological survey of the United States department of agriculture is saving annually over $5,000,000 worth of live stock for the ranchers of the Rocky mountain section as a result of its intensive campaign against predatory animals, which has been in progress during the past three years. During this period 60,453 coyotes, 8,085 bobcats, 1,820 wolves, 201 mountain lions, and 137 bears have been trapped or shot, and many other animals have been poisoned. The income from the sale of pelts of animals killed by government hunters to protect live stock during the last year will aggregate approximately $100,000. This work is of special importance, because the cattle and sheep which are already on the range producing meat, wool, and leather are afforded protection, and thus the actual sources of these essential commodities are being conserved for market. Furthermore, clearing the range of predatory animals is making conditions more favorable for stocking the grazing areas to full capacity and for improving the quality of the breeding stock.—United States Department of Agriculture.

Japanese Beetle in New Jersey.

A public hearing on the proposed quarantine of a portion of New Jersey on account of the Japanese beetle, a serious pest of certain vegetables and fruit, was held by the United States department of agriculture in Washington recently. As a result of infestation of the Japanese beetle in parts of Burlington county, N. J., the proposed quarantine is intended to prohibit the shipment from this territory of green sugar corn, ripe tomatoes and ripe peaches which might cause this pest to spread. A campaign of eradication authorized by congress is now in progress, and the proposed quarantine is deemed necessary to support the measures that are being taken for the suppression of this dangerous pest.

His Expedient.

The army examiner was getting somewhat out of patience with the dull candidate before him. But he controlled his temper, and gave him a last chance to distinguish himself.

"Let it be supposed, sir," he said, ironically, "that you were a captain in command of infantry; that in your rear was an impassable abyss; that on both sides of you there rose perpendicular rocks of tremendous height; that in front of you lay the enemy, outnumbering you ten to one. What, sir, in such an emergency would you do?"

"What would I do?" responded the applicant, "I should resign!"

Studying Deep-Sea Life.

A peculiar advantage for the study of marine life is credited the biological station established at Messina about two years ago. The sudden rise of the ocean bed at the strait of Messina causes very unusual upward currents from great depths, and these are so strong as to bring many of the deep-sea animals forcibly to the surface, where they are caught from small boats. The animals are taken under conditions less abnormal than usual. Many of them are able to produce light and some even vary the color of the light at will.

Japanese to Fly in Siberia.

He will go with Senowo, who recently brought the crown prince a pair of Russian eagles from General Semenov. Ozaki will take to Siberia another machine besides his own biplane.

I had the pleasure last week of telling you something about the woolen situation, and now I want to call your attention to Overcoats. Because of the existing situation we urge the need for considering well the question of a new overcoat. If you are obliged to buy, you of course want the best available and you want it tailored-to-measure—by far the more economical way—and accordingly we invite you to call and see our line of all-wool Melton, Kerseys, Cheviots and Novelities. ALBERT RENNER, President, The Jacksonville Tailoring Company, East State Street.

A BIG POPCORN CROP.

George Kieck who bought the Strawn land east of the city, is growing his popcorn crop of 380 acres. He has a machine called a picker which he uses with success. It is propelled by five horses or a tractor and goes through the field in line shape. Mr. Kieck has 400 acres of popcorn on his Decatur farm and has refused an offer of 5 cents a pound for the entire crop. Last winter popcorn retailed for 18 to 20 cents a pound but of course there is quite a distance between the producer and the consumer.

WITH THE COLORS

sticking together, the West Gate crew was there, from the skipper down to the mess attendants, and they sure showed it the night of the accident.

Too much praise cannot be given to our captain, the way he got all hands off the ship, with everything against him, a heavy sea, a heavy rain and a pitch dark night. This is how it happened. General Quarters was sounded, which aroused everybody out of their bunks. In a moment's time everybody was at their station. Almost immediately abandon ship was sounded, everybody stood by their boats. By this time the captain was coming aft, when he met our chief gunner's mate and inquired how bad we were damaged. He and the chief went aft to find out: on the captain's return he ordered the boats to be lowered over the sides. This is when our skipper showed himself a regular fellow. He made sure that everybody left the ship before he did. He sat on the raft on the boat deck, lit a cigarette, and waited for the raft to wash clear. When the raft floated he struck a strong back and was knocked off the raft, just as the "Good Old West Gate" made her final plunge. He was later picked up by another raft, and was brought aboard the rescue ship, badly bruised and cut, but not broken in spirit. The first thing he thought of was his crew, and demanded a muster to determine the casualties.

A Survivor from the West Gate.

HOW THE MONEY IS SPENT.

The people of Illinois who spend $3,000,000 a year on their pen and charitable institutions are to know how their money is expended, Charles H. Thorne, director of the Department of Public Welfare, has published a new manual on "revised accounting methods" for state institutions.

The state will be able to give accurate information, according to Mr. Thorne, in regard to the operations of the farms, gardens and dairies at these institutions. The manual provides for cost accounting, showing the exact cost of producing every article made in the factories at Joliet, Chester and Pontiac, and indicating whether these industries have been operating at a profit or loss. It also prescribes the duties of institutional chief clerks, storerooms and bookkeepers, gives detailed information with regard to methods of bookkeeping and collecting cash and remitting to the state treasury. It is also expected to be useful as a text book for persons taking examinations for clerical positions.

The new manual is an institutional production, having been printed by the boys of the state reformatory at Pontiac.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, azy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like, for 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

LABOR AGENCIES.

Ending of the war will not mean the immediate divorcing of federal and state labor agencies, operating jointly for the past several months in the war employment crisis. Both services will continue to co-operate in the work of reconstruction now facing the state and the nation, according to Barney Cohen, director of the Illinois Department of Labor.

"While the state probably would be in a position to take care of its own labor employment situation," Mr. Cohen said, "we welcome the help of the federal government and all other patriotic organizations and individuals who are interested in returning labor conditions to normal."

It is the plan of the government, with the support of state labor agencies, Mr. Cohen said, to utilize the existing employment system, and the community labor boards, as a central clearing house in the re-employment of soldiers, sailors and war workers when they are released from their present duties.

In addition to the well organized state employment system, which maintains bureaus in various cities, the United States employment service has a number of local employment agencies throughout the state. These are kept in touch with all of the 700 federal agencies throughout the nation and also with the 1600 community labor boards. In this way close watch can be kept regarding industrial conditions, and labor can be shifted as the requirements dictate.

In addition to furnishing men and women to fill war jobs in the state, sent thousands to coast points and munitions centers for work in war industries, Mr. Cohen stated. Because a great force of workers left Illinois, the closing of war plants in other states will cause a disturbance when these factories and industries cease to co-operate, Mr. Cohen believes.

"Hundreds of men formerly employed in the building trades in Illinois were forced to look elsewhere for jobs when restrictions were placed by the government on their lines of work," Mr. Cohen said. "These men will return to Illinois again when their war-time tasks are finished. We must be in a position to care for them. I feel confident, however, that none will suffer if we can maintain harmony between workers and employers and forestall radicalism."

TO DO HONOR TO GREAT BRITAIN

Saturday, December 7, Fixed as Day Upon Which America Should Pay Tribute to Valor of Our Ally.

Saturday, December 7, is to be observed as British day throughout the United States. The plan has the approval of President Wilson and Judge Charles E. Hughes and of official bodies generally of the entire country. There will be literally thousands of celebrations in cities of all states. One of the biggest will be in Chicago, where the various British societies, the National League, the City Council (acting under official resolution) and the State Council of Defense will unite to make the occasion a memorable one.

These celebrations are intended as testimonials to Great Britain's part in the great war. They are under the direction of a national committee, of which Judge Alton B. Parker of New York, is chairman and who, in his letter asking for the co-operation of the states says:

"We ask Americans to remember that it was not international law, but the British fleet, which kept clear the paths of the sea for America's commerce; that if the British 'Contentment' had wavered at Ypres, long before this a peace full of menace to us would have been declared."

In holding these celebrations Judge Parker asks particularly that the people be "inspired by the friendly interest which the British people are taking in our wounded and invalided, whom they regard as their own kith and kin and not as foreigners."

The British Empire universally celebrated the Fourth of July last summer, and America generally has observed Bastille Day in honor of the French for the past two years. So it is Britain's turn.

It is planned by the national committee in charge that the celebrations of Saturday be followed by appropriate church services on Sunday, December 8, hence communities which have not arranged meetings for Saturday night have Sunday observance of the occasion.

What is Nuxated Iron?

Physician Explains—Says Public Ought to Know What They are Taking—Practical Advice on What To Do To Build Up Your Strength, Power and Endurance and Increase the Red Blood Corpuscles

The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over three million people annually and that so many physicians are prescribing it as a tonic, strength and blood builder in weak, nervous and run-down conditions has led to an investigation of its merits by designated physicians and others whose reports should be of great importance to the public generally. Among these is the statement made by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital, New York, and Westchester County Hospital, who says: "When one patient after another began asking my opinion of Nuxated Iron, I resolved to go thoroughly into the subject and find out for myself whether or not it possessed the real value claimed by its manufacturers and attested to by so many prominent people. This is exactly what I believe every honest, conscientious physician should do before prescribing or lending his endorsement to any product whatsoever. If an article is worthless we practitioners ought to be the first to know of it and if it is efficacious we are in duty bound to recommend it for the welfare of our patients. A study of the composition of the Nuxated Iron formula so impressed me with the therapeutic efficacy of the product that I immediately tested it in a number of obstinate cases. So quickly did it increase the strength, energy and endurance of the patients to whom it was administered that I became firmly convinced of its remarkable value as a tonic and blood builder. I have since taken it myself with excellent results. There are thousands of delicate, nervous, run-down folks who need just such a preparation as this, but do not know what to take. Therefore I have earnestly suggested the widespread publication of the sworn statement of the composition of its formula so that the public may know what they are taking. This complete formula is now to be found in newspapers throughout the country. It is composed principally of organic iron in the form of iron peptonate of a special specific standard and glycerophosphates, which is one of the most costly tonic ingredients known. To the credit of the manufacturers it may be said that they use the most expensive form of iron peptonate, whereas by employing other makes they could have used the same quantity of actual iron in the tablets at less than one-fourth the cost and by using metallic iron they could have reduced the cost to less than one-twelfth, but by thus cheapening the product they would undoubtedly have impaired its therapeutic efficacy. In my opinion a careful examination of this formula by any physician or pharmacist should convince him that Nuxated Iron is to be placed among the very highest class and most strictly ethical preparations known to medical science. It exceeds anything I have ever used for building up the system and increasing the red blood corpuscles thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease.
